My Father was a lot of different things to me, through the years. He was my protector, my teacher, my friend, my adversary and my arguing partner. I Loved him very much. I will go through life remembering all of the good times, the smiles the laughs and the lessons. The teasing and the funny way he pronounced some words, and the care he gave me when I was sick with Cancer. He was my Knight in Armor, most of the time it was rusty, second hand Armor but With his Blue eyes shining he would ride to the rescue anyway. I will always love him.
