Tammy and Family... I know what a difficult time in your life this is, no time is a good time to lose your Wife, Mother, Grandmother.. this is the poem that I read at my Mothers service 19 months ago, and the words have helped me so much then and still to this day, I could hear her voice in this poem, I hope it can help you like it has helped me. Now that I am gone, remember me with smiles and laughter. And if you need to cry, cry with your brother or sister who walks in grief beside you. And when you need me, put your arms around anyone and give to them what you need to give to me. There are so many who need so much. I want to leave you something -- something much better than words or sounds. Look for me in the people I've known or helped in some special way. Let me live in your heart as well as in your mind. You can love me most by letting your love reach out to our loved ones, by embracing them and living in their love. Love does not die, people do. So, when all that's left of me is love, give me away as best you can. Author Unknown We give you all our love, thoughts and prayers in this time of sorrow... Dave and Jeanette Schoenrock

I am so sorry for your loss. It is never easy to lose a parent, no matter your age. Just know she is a much better place, healthy and happy, with all those she has loved that went before her. Sending love and prayers.
