Last year at a family gathering I had the great privilege to sit and listen to Aug and Doris share their life story with me. The theme that was woven through the whole story was God and his faithfulness. From the time they were dating till now, Aug's focus has been on the one he can see clearly now. I am thankful to have known him and to see his godly legacy live on through his daughter and grandsons. Thank you God for the time we ALL had with him. MPW
