“ My pastor wrote up prayers for Lindsey. The prayers brought me some peace so I wanted to share them in case they would be helpful to someone else. -Bena

“ I met Lindsey at work just a few months ago. Every time I saw her, she had a lovely smile and a kind word. My deepest sympathy to Lindsey's parents. There is no loss as deep as that of a parent losing a child. Rest in peace, Lindsey.

“ You were such a strong amazing women, you could make anyone laugh or smile even on there worst days. I know our friendship wasn't long but it was great. I wish we could have made more memories but I'll never forget you. Thank you for always being there and such an amazing friend!

“ I have no words to describe the depth of sorrow I am feeling for this loss. I love you, too my beautiful sister. I was there when you were born, emerging into this world. I was there at the bed times that you hated. I listened to you scratch your way to an amazing musician. You were present for my life's pain and you kept your hand extended when I was in darkness. I love you so much and am so proud of the woman you became. I know that you are swimming in love and lightness without the Earthly pain that took you too soon.

“ Lindsey was a gentle soul and a kind person. She loved her friends and family deeply. My favorite memory of her was our holiday nights outing at Greenfield village. We had so much fun. Her honesty and willingness was a breath of fresh air. Lindsey was a tough cookie. Although her illness took her from us too soon I know she fought it as hard as she could. I believe you are among the angels now and I hope you can feel how much you are loved.

Miss you,

Bena

“ I met Lindsey last year at an event at the Sterling inn. She was very easy to talk to and really caring. We exchanged numbers and texted every now and then to say hi. My blessings her and to her family. May God rest her soul. My Deepest Sympathy.

“ Lindsey is like a little sister to me. I'm not normally speechless, but this has left a huge hole in our hearts--and I know my words can't satiate the deep pain that you all (and we) are experiencing. It gives me some peace in knowing that she is no longer in turmoil, though I wish that she saw the potential in herself that we all saw. I'm so sorry for the pain her family, and especially her parents, are feeling. The only thing that I can offer is my shoulder, arms, ears, and endless love for any and all of you if you should want/need. I know that Lindsey's energy is all around us and she lives through our good actions and the things we create (as she was an amazing, versatile artist). I am sending prayers/vibes of peace and strength and I love you all very much.

My deepest condolences and warmest regards.

Love,
Jen Agee

“ Though I knew Lindsey for a very short time, she quickly became one of my favorite persons.

First time when I met her at a restaurant, I realized how we should treat waiters. She was very very kind to them. After our meal, she stacked up all the used plates and even cleaned up the food waste on the table. Clearly she belonged to a rare category.

Her family can be very proud of her. Her humility and love touched many lives and I feel privileged to have the opportunity of knowing her in person .

Lots of love, prayers and strength to the family during these tough times.

Rest In Peace Lindsey and I am sure you are in a better place and spreading your love wherever you are “ Lindsey was my blonde, blue eyed southern drawl Memphis friend... she brought level of genuine, raw honesty to me in our short time knowing & loving her... I pray is free from pain & anguish & that she knows that having her on my path made a difference...

Until we meet again & I can get one of your big hugs I cherished...

“ Sweet Lindsey, with vibrant blue eyes and bright smile, I will miss you. I am honored to have been your friend, to watch how hard you worked towards healing. The true loving and giving Lindsey was showing her face. The color purple will always remind me of you. I believe you are now being held in the safe arms of your Higher Power.

“ Love and light for you during this time. I Love you both, DEB and Detroit. My favorite things about Lindsey were her big smile and big brain...not to mention that she was a superb violinist.
