“ I am so hurt and broken up about Marsha’s passing. My name is Fate Carson IV and I was Marsha and Troy’s realtor, and I would also like to think, friend, as well. I was blessed to have first met them on May 10, 2021. We toured approximately 20 homes before they finally made their purchase. Marsha and Troy were my very first closing. Their knowledge about home structures, real estate in-general, and city ordinances was amazing.

I had just begun my career in real estate a couple of months before meeting them and was still extremely “green” as it pertained to my knowledge of the business. Marsha and Troy would always give me tips, tricks, what-fors, and, why-nots on what red flags to look for in a property. They took me in their beautiful home showed me how something can be created with the right amount of vision and resources. They opened my eyes up to an entire world as it pertains to buying, owning, renting, rehabbing, and selling homes.

Marsha was a good woman, with a good heart, good follow through, and good intentions. I will miss you, and never forget you Marsha. 💔😞

Sincerely,

Fate

“ Sending our condolences to everyone in Marsha’s circle. She was a wonderful caring human being who always put family and friends first. As her parents aged and required more care, she moved to Detroit to provide it. An amazing daughter, sister, cousin and friend. Rest In Peace.

“ I will always remember Marsha's friendly demeanor and wonderful smile. We didn't get to see each other much due to distance, but it was always a pleasure to catch up when we had a family event. Her dedication to her family was always evident and she will leave a huge hole in the lives of all who knew her. Rest in Peace Marsha. xo

“ When growing up as a kid, she would make me a GIANT amount of peanut butter (only) sandwich. I think it took me a day to eat it.
